

Since this is my phone and I pay for it, why should I be forced to answer solicitation calls from someone I do not wish to speak to? I get more than enough junk mail informing me of their services. If I want to take advantage of any of their services, I'll call them.